School Safety / Alyssa's Law — Ceros Page Initiative

Date: May 2026 | Attendees: Jerome (PM), Rachel, Shia (ref.), Yulia (UX/Ceros)

Meeting Summary

A webinar was recorded in collaboration with HP covering Alyssa's Law compliance requirements for schools (panic button/communication mandates). The video currently lives on a B&H Vimeo account. The goal is to get it on a proper page, and the team aligned on expanding the scope from an "Alyssa's Law page" to a broader School Safety hub page to future-proof the content, accommodate more products and brands, and serve K-12 customers more holistically.

Key Decisions

Scope Pivot: Alyssa's Law Page → School Safety Page

- Broader umbrella accommodates more products beyond HP and additional compliance laws over time.
- Alyssa's Law webinar + HP content become featured content within the school safety theme.
- If Alyssa's Law evolves or is repealed, the page still has standalone value.
- Opens the door to feature security cameras, alert systems, metal detectors, fire/safety systems, and more.

Phase 1 Ceros Page Deliverable

- School Safety category tiles — informational only, not clickable (phase 2 for linked landing pages).
- Brief description of the Alyssa's Law webinar.
- Embedded webinar video (HP collaboration, B&H-owned asset).
- CTA 1: Link to K-12 B2B Hub.
- CTA 2: Contact/inquiry form — name, role, budget, district vs. school-wide scope, existing tools, safety concerns.

Distribution & Discoverability

- Primary funnel: email campaign with direct link to the Ceros page.
- Secondary access: footer link on the K-12 portal page.
- Long-term: potential "School Resources" section in the K-12 nav (e.g., Student Safety, ELL, CTE).

Email Copy Strategy

Writing the email first gives the team the core narrative. Copy from the email can be reused on the Ceros page, killing two birds with one stone. Rachel owns copy; the advertising team owns design/execution.

Next Steps

Owner	Action	Timing
Jerome	Deliver lo-fi prototype of Ceros page layout	Early next week
Rachel	Draft directional email / landing page copy	By Wednesday

Jerome	Share landing page intake brief with Rachel	ASAP
Jerome	Confirm Ceros supports contact forms	Before build
Rachel	Submit email design request to advertising team	When copy is ready
Both	Mid-week check-in via Teams	~Wednesday

Open Questions

- What are the 5–10 school safety product categories? (Homework item — merchandising input needed.)
- Which non-HP products/brands belong on the page? (Security cameras, alert systems, metal detectors, fire safety, etc.)
- Where exactly does the page surface in the K-12 footer/nav? (TBD with Ariel/marketing.)
- Are there other brands that have compliant Alyssa's Law products beyond HP/Poly Edge phones?

Additional Notes

Jerome is OOO starting the 18th. All key setup and hand-offs must be complete by end of next week. Yulia (UX) is the sole execution resource for the Ceros page — no BHJ ticket required. The Ceros page can be iterated on post-launch as the law expands to more states (currently 12 states have passed Alyssa's Law, more in progress).
